

Ribes sanguineum 'King Edward VII'

gradinar, Monday 09 February 2009 - 12:18:32

Ribes sanguineum 'King Edward VII' ... a popular name-currant or raspberry currant hrast. Toy type and originates from the western coastal parts of northern America, Central British Columbia and south to central California.

This is a deciduous shrub of the family saxifragaceae. Description-opadlivi compact shrub with leaves and branches made. The leaves are green, slightly downy, three or petdelni taponazabeni, fan-folded, up to 5 cm long. Of autumn leaves become golden amber nuances.

The colors are unusual, deep purple, racemose inflorescences collected in-dalzhina. Blagouhanni to 5 cm with the smell of raspberry.

Flowering period is April-may. Tsafiti each year without any special grizhi. Tsvetovete appear to shoot past year. Podryazva annually after overblown.

This is an easy-to-bush cultivation for beginners florist.

Fruits are dark blue in color topchentsa. Toy is fit for consumption, but not much vkusen. Tezi plodcheta forest are a favorite food of birds. Fully ripe fruits are in July.

Comments from the forum

With great thanks to "zamatat" and other users of the forum!